

2020 ANNUAL REPORT

TOGETHER WE ARE SOLVING HUNGER

YOU MAKE OUR WORK POSSIBLE

A NOTE FROM KATY O'MALLEY BUNDER PRESIDENT/CEO OF FOOD FINDERS FOOD BANK

I will never be able to adequately thank all of the generous donors and supporters who have helped Food Finders weather the storm that was COVID-19. We were stunned by the sudden increase in need but awed by the generosity of this community.

Now, it appears that the worst is over and the economy and unemployment rate are improving. Unfortunately, the economic recovery will favor people who had good jobs before the pandemic. People who struggled before COVID are not likely to enjoy the improved job market. A recent New York Times article predicts that the low-wage job sector will continue to see losses after the pandemic, for the next decade. The people who lost jobs in the service industry will have a hard time finding another job. NBC News reports that food and fuel prices have risen and will continue to rise for at least 18 months. This will make life very hard for anyone working low-wage jobs.

Food Finders is actively preparing to help people who won't see the economic recovery by providing more food than ever before and offering resource coordination; connecting people we serve to housing, medical, and employment services. We cannot do this work without your generous support. Please continue to help us as we fight the impact of COVID-19 on our most vulnerable citizens.

CLAIRE'S STORY OF HOPE

FOOD FINDERS PROVIDES MORE THAN JUST FOOD
STORY BY PURDUE UNIVERSITY STUDENT INTERN, NATALIE WAGNER AMODEO

Claire wants what's best for her family just like every parent. Asking for help is not her first choice, but she has visited Food Finders' Fresh Market a handful of times, expressing her gratitude with each visit. As a young mother, Claire's full time job is taking care of her two small children. The first item on Claire's grocery list is always baby food, and although Jordan and Alex are not yet two years old, getting the food they deserve is at times a luxury. Claire and her spouse juggle a lot of things on their own, and in addition to newfound parenthood, the couple spends what spare time they have studying at Purdue University. Hoping to eventually earn a steady income, Claire does the absolute most to keep her family afloat. In order to keep up with groceries and other bills, she plans to save money by applying for affordable housing. With help from a resource coordinator at Food Finders, Claire has applied for a subsidized housing voucher, and she and her two children are currently receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF). These benefits help her buy essentials for her family. Without them, Claire would have to choose between necessities like food and housing.

Now, after working with a resource coordinator at Food Finders, she has received a list of local affordable housing complexes and made a plan to contact them after she receives her housing voucher. Claire, like any parent, deserves the immediate care and resources necessary to best support herself and her family.

COVID-19 DRAWS ATTENTION TO HOMEBOUND SENIORS

FOOD FINDERS RESPONDS WITH EXPANDED SENIOR PROGRAM

The COVID-19 pandemic immediately changed operations at the food bank. With businesses closing and people sheltering in place, Food Finders had to quickly adapt to ensure the nutritional needs of our community members were met. The need for emergency home delivery became clear after many people quarantining or unable to leave their homes due to high risk health concerns called Food Finders. The food bank responded by making weekly food box deliveries.

With the help of funding from Enterprise Rent-A-Car Foundation through Feeding America, Food Finders was able to expand this program and reimagine the Senior Grocery Program.

Food Finders is taking a five-pronged approach to addressing senior hunger through: delivery for qualifying homebound seniors in Tippecanoe

County, senior shopping hours at the Fresh Market, senior specialized resource coordination, satellite senior-only pantry options throughout the food bank's service area and targeted food distributions at five affordable senior housing facilities in Greater Lafayette.

Food Finders has delivered nutritious food twice a month to nearly 300 seniors at Fairington Apartments, The Tippecanoe County Senior Center, Fowler Apartments, Friendship House Communities and The Historic Jefferson Centre.

Recently, Jepsey, a senior at one of the sites shared, "The food boxes are very nice. We are able to stock up and it's healthy."

Through this grant funding, Food Finders aims to meet seniors' nutritional needs. The Indiana USDA reported there are more than 19,000 adults ages 65+ living below 150% of the federal poverty guidelines across Food Finders' service area. As the baby boomer generation ages, they will become the largest group of seniors, so the need for food resources will continue to increase in the coming years.

These programs are made possible through volunteers, supporters and community partners. Together we are ending senior hunger.

LAFAYETTE KOHL'S

A COMMUNITY WITH HEART PROGRAM

Last spring, Food Finders had to quickly shift operations to respond to the safety concerns and the growing need presented by the coronavirus.

One of the ways the food bank did this was to hold drive-through distributions at the Tippecanoe Mall. These distributions allowed people in our community to safely remain in their cars while nutritious food was loaded into their vehicles.

Later in the year, the food bank was notified that Kohl's employees had nominated Food Finders Food Bank to receive a $100,000 grant through their A Community with Heart Program. Kohl's employees shared that they saw how many people Food Finders was able to help through the drive-through distributions at the mall and wanted to support family health and wellness in Tippecanoe County.

"What makes this award so special to our team is that we didn't apply for it," said Kier Crites, Chief Engagement Officer at Food Finders. "Someone in the community saw the work we were doing and the difference we are making and nominated us for it. That means the world to us."

Thank you to the Lafayette Kohl's for their support and for joining the fight against hunger.
